DARKNESS ENDS UNION PICNIC

Electric Lights Go out and Scores of Gettysburg People Have Unpleasant Experience. Mr. Turner Makes Statement.

Several hundred persons suddenly found themselves in absolute darkness at Rosensteel's pavilion Thursday night when the Sunday School picnic came to an abrupt close following the withdrawal of the current at the local power plant. General confusion and dissatisfaction was the result.

Automobiles were pressed into service and the big trucks of Wm. McG. Tawney and B. W. Hummer were rushed to the scene together with several other large cars and, after an hour or more of hurry trips, the crowd was gotten back to town. From twenty to thirty came in with every truck, all the passengers possessing little of the picnic spirit by the time they reached town. A number of children were among those caught in the darkness and the misfortune was an unpleasant ending to what would otherwise have been a highly successful picnic.

T. P. Turner, manager of the local lighting and railway companies, when asked concerning the matter this morning, said that he knew nothing about the whole affair and when told of the inconvenience to the picnickers professed much regret over the occurrence. After conferring with the men on duty at the plant during the evening he made this statement:

"We withdrew our car service at eight o'clock, our usual time, and shut down the engines, cutting out the lights at the pavilion. The last two cars in from the Hill brought a total of four people showing that there was no desire for car service. We received no requests for light even though there is a telephone at Round Top which connects directly with our plant and by which we have frequently been asked for light on other occasions. It would have required the mere request to secure the light."

"The thought of any affair happening such as that which you mention, never occurred to me and I truly regret that it took place. We merely followed our usual custom of shutting off power at eight o'clock when there was no demand for service. The inference, which I understand has been drawn by some people, that the condition arose on account of spite work following withdrawal of patronage when no concession was made in fares, is absolutely unfounded."

The picnic itself was a success according to all who enjoyed it. In the afternoon married men and single men fought for supremacy on the base ball field but no accurate score was kept and there were but three married men in the combined outfit so that much was at stake. The little ones had a fine time and the older people enjoyed the band music. Attendance was good and the annual event fully up to the expectations of the people who attended.

FORMER RESIDENT LOSES IN BLAZE

Paul Spangler One of Heavy Losers in Fire which Threatened to Destroy Newville. Carlisle Truck to the Rescue.

The general store and stock of Paul Spangler in Newville were severely damaged by water during a fire which burned out fourteen buildings and destroyed $50,000 worth of property on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Spangler has many friends here where he formerly resided. The blaze, which for a time threatened to destroy the entire town, reached to within a square of the residence of Rev. and Mrs. George N. Lauffer. Four men were slightly injured during the course of the fire.

Starting with a spurt of flame and a cloud of smoke from the stable of Mrs. Jennie Davidson, it ate its way through the buildings so rapidly that a much bigger area would have been burned had it not been for the timely arrival of the new auto truck of the Union Fire Company at Carlisle.

Fourteen buildings were burned in the fire, the most important being the implement house of C. M. Miller, and the new general store of P. E. Spangler. The other buildings were a series of stables.

The blaze was first discovered by Burgess Brandt, who turned in the alarm, and brought out the two little chemical engines—the makeup of the town's fire department.

After their arrival at the fire, it was seen that they were unable to cope with the situation, and they asked Carlisle for aid. One of the chemicals refused to work, and the other went wrong shortly after the company had started to play a stream on the blaze.

The Union Fire Company is demonstrating with a new fire auto truck, and Demonstrator Ruggles, of Elmira, N. Y., took things in his own hands, and took out the truck for a record run to Newville. It saved the town.

Two telephone girls, employed by the Bell Company, stuck to their posts in the exchange during the fire and answered the hundreds of calls that were poured at them during the hour that the blaze was at its height. They stood in six inches of water while the flames were licking the building. They were relieved then and two men put on the job. They were Miss Martha Householder and Miss Margaret Bowers.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE

Upper End Teachers to Avoid Meetings for Pleasure only.

The teachers of Biglerville and Butler township organized during the recess at the annual teachers' meeting. The officers were elected for the year: president, Milford Hanes; vice president, Floyd Slaybaugh, secretary, R. Alice Longsdorf; treasurer, Maude Taylor.

The president appointed Robert Fisher, Pearl Rice and Bess Raffensperger to serve on the executive committee. It was decided to hold the first meeting at Clear Spring on September 17th. It was also decided to change to some extent the manner of conducting the meetings by having the program made up entirely of work by the teachers and directors. It was feared that the meetings were becoming school entertainments instead of meetings for the benefit of teachers and patrons. It was for this reason the change was proposed.

BOY SCOUTS TO ENCAMP HERE

Troop from Washington Coming on Two Hundred Mile Hike. Will Spend Several Days Camping in William Johns Field.

Fifteen boys representing several nationalities will arrive in Gettysburg Saturday on a two hundred mile hike from Washington to Gettysburg and return. While here they will camp at the field of William H. Johns at the southwestern edge of town. They carry two regulation Army tents and have a large wagon containing their equipment.

The boys are the members of Troop 27 Boy Scouts of America organized at the Gospel Mission in Washington, with which Mrs. H. E. Monroe, well known in Gettysburg, is actively connected. It is known as one of the greatest institutions for good in the Capital City.

Captain James B. Graham commands the troop which will be encamped on the Johns Field for three or four days. The boys depend largely on the hospitality of the towns which they visit for their rations and the following stores in Gettysburg will be receiving stations for any supplies which local people care to donate toward their mess and their good times while here, G. S. Diller, William Eden, Gettysburg Department Store, Hennig's Bakery, People's Cash Store, Jennie Wade House, A. S. Mills, and I. M. Reynolds. Provisions left at these stores will be called for by representatives of the Scouts.

The trip to Gettysburg is by way of Frederick, Harper's Ferry, and Emmitsburg. Returning the Scouts will go by Chambersburg, Greencastle, Waynesboro, Hagerstown and Williamsport.

An exceptionally interesting feature of the Scouts' stay here will be a special service in St. James Lutheran church Sunday evening when the boys will sing illustrated songs and an illustrated lecture on "Rescue Work in the Underworld" will be delivered by Herbert W. Kline, superintendent of the Gospel Mission. Mr. Kline has delivered his address at every town where the Scouts stopped over night.

This lecture commences with an East River (New York) scene over forty years ago, with a graphic description of the life and habits of Jerry McAuley and the denizens of the underworld of the great East-side, the conversion of this remarkable man and the subsequent opening of the Rescue Work, where a thief was more welcome than an honest man and the drunkard more than the abstainer, and the evolution of the Rescue Mission Work, with its marvelous growth and achievements in the past forty years—some of the most incomprehensible cases of miraculous conversion. The work of the Bowery Mission, with its pathetic "Bread Line", and the life and testimony of S. H. Hadley and Col. H. H. Hadley, the peerless leaders of this great work among the unfortunate; the story of Delia, or "Saved by a Pink Rose," a thrilling drama of Rescue Work among the white slaves in vicious haunts of sin.

LIND RETURNS TO MEXICAN CAPITAL

Message From Gamboa Brightens the Outlook.

U. S. WILL NOT RECEDE

Provisional President's Request Is Regarded as Concession in Washington.

Vera Cruz, Mex., Aug. 29.—John Lind, the special representative of President Wilson, has decided to return to the capital at once.

This action is due to the latest note from Senor Gamboa, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs. This note is considered to mean that the Mexican government is willing to do all in its power to come to a cordial understanding with the United States if such a thing is possible. It will doubtless take some time for both sides to get together and present their ideas.

Wilson Sees Peace.

Washington, Aug. 29.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan believe that the Mexican situation is encouraging.

After the president had received from John Lind a message, described as "very optimistic" it was announced that Wilson's personal emissary had been instructed to return to Mexico City, if in his discretion such a step seemed advisable.

While administration officials were silent as to the next move, the general understanding was that a way appeared to be open to the further discussion of disputed points, such as the elimination of Huerta as a candidate for the presidency of Mexico.

After a conference with Secretary Bryan and Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, President Wilson let it be known he believed things were changing in Mexico City and that something tangible soon would be known.

There was no evidence that the Huerta government had agreed to the American plan of mediation, but the disposition of the Mexican administration to withdraw some of its proposals has encouraged the belief in official circles that the president's message is having a good general effect in Mexico. This disposition was shown in Foreign Minister Gamboa's reply to Lind's second note, made public in Mexico City.

At Secretary Bryan's request the treasury department telegraphed all customs agents to embargo all shipments of arms to Mexico, regardless of the consignee. A large shipment waiting at Juarez will be withheld, although a portion already had been allowed to pass.

This action is part of the administration's program of carrying out President Wilson's determination for strict neutrality.

Gamboa's note, sent to Lind at Vera Cruz Monday night, which was the cause of the delay from Tuesday till Wednesday of the delivery of President Wilson's message, had not been received officially in Washington, but was given out in full in Mexico City. Lind's "supplementary suggestions," which called forth the reply, also were made public.

Besides abandoning the insistence upon the immediate appointment of ambassadors, the note contains several highly interesting clauses.

In one paragraph the Mexican diplomat quotes Lind's statement that President Wilson, "if Mexico acts immediately and favorably on the foregoing suggestions," would express to American bankers assurance that the government of the United States would look with favor upon an immediate loan to Mexico.

Answering this, Senor Gamboa begs to be excused from a direct reply for the time being, other than to say that this suggestion appears to be an attractive antecedent proposal to the end that, moved by petty interest, Mexico should renounce a right which incontrovertibly upholds the country at a time when the dignity of the nation is at stake.

"I believe," he adds, "that there are not loans enough to induce those charged by the law to maintain that dignity to permit it to be lessened."

In another part of his lengthy note, referring to the insistence of President Wilson that Huerta should bind himself not to be a candidate for election to the presidency at the October elections, Senor Gamboa quotes from the Mexican constitution to prove that under these regulations "the secretary of state, in charge of the executive power, shall not be eligible to the office of either president or vice president when the elections shall take place." This provision, Gamboa intimates, prevents Huerta from being a candidate.

Upon a summary of the Gamboa note transmitted to Bryan by Lind, administration officials declared that the United States would not yield on its demand that Victoriano Huerta should not be a candidate.

Auto Tank Explodes; Man Burned.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 29.—While pouring gasoline into the tank of an automobile, William N. Bryden, aged twenty-four years, of Courtale, was perhaps fatally burned by an explosion in the tank, which hurled him twenty feet. The automobile was destroyed. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

WEDDING IN ROYAL FAMILY

Prince Arthur of Connaught and Princess Victoria of Fife to Marry.

MOTHER AND CHILD DIE FROM CAT BITE

Hydrophobia Develops After Attack by Rabid Animal.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—The bite of a pet cat six weeks ago caused the death from hydrophobia in the Episcopal hospital of eleven-year-old John Miller.

Two weeks ago his mother, Mrs. Jeannette Miller, died from the same disease, communicated on the same day that her son was bitten.

The cat had been raised by the family from the time it was a kitten, twelve years ago. At the time Mrs. Miller and her son were bitten the wounds were cauterized. They healed quickly, and no alarm was felt until Mrs. Miller's sudden death. Even afterward, it appears, no fears were felt for the health of the little boy, who had been the original victim of the pet.

One morning when the lad arose he found the cat was in his room. As he stepped from the bed to the floor the animal jumped at him and bit him on the foot. He chased the cat away and after washing the wound, dressed it. During the day he told the neighborhood of the cat's attack, and that night when his mother heard of it she took him at once to the Episcopal hospital.

The incision in the foot was cauterized, and when Mrs. Miller returned home she began stroking the cat. Hardly had her hand touched its back when it turned on her and sank its teeth deep into her arm. In pain, Mrs. Miller went to the hospital and her arm was treated. After the second attack Mrs. Miller killed the cat.

FRESH EGGS BY MAIL

Parcel Post Fast Linking Suburbanite and the Producer.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Fruits, fresh laid eggs and other farm products are being forwarded by mail in ever increasing quantities from the suburban producer to the urban breakfast table, according to Postmaster General Durlison.

The parcel post system, likewise, is being increasingly used for the transportation of manufactured articles, and postoffice department officials expressed their pleasure at the manner in which the public is taking advantage of the innovation.

The order increasing the weight of packages that may be sent through the mails has been endorsed by people in all sections of the country.

Girl Ablaze Puts Out Fire.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 29.—Grace Sanford, twenty-four years old, manager of the Freehold elevator, was brought to the hospital here with her face and upper body badly burned as a result of an explosion of carbide in the acetylene tank in her home. The top of the tank was blown off and her hair caught fire. She saved herself from burning to death by throwing her skirts over her head.

Acquit Slayer of Attacker of Woman, New York, Aug. 29.—A coroner's jury acquitted William F. Cuff for slaying Joseph Borradas on Aug. 4, when the latter attacked Miss Mary Burns, a telephone operator, on her way home from work. Cuff, a stranger to the young woman, responded to her cries for help and knocked Borradas down. The man died later of a fractured skull. The jury brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

GIANT IMPERATOR SWERT BY FIRE

Officer Killed Fighting Flames on Largest Steamer.

PANIC IN THE STEERAGE

World's Greatest Passenger Vessel Is Badly Damaged Before Flames Are Subdued.

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 29.—The giant steamship Imperator, of the Hamburg-American line, the largest vessel now afloat, was swept by fire while moored to her dock on the Hoboken waterfront, and damage to her second and main saloon deck will amount to thousands of dollars. Her crew and 1131 steerage passengers were aboard.

The fire started in the provisions room, and its origin is unknown, although officers of the vessel believe defective insulation of electric wires may have been the cause. The Imperator arrived from Europe only Wednesday.

A thousand longshoremen, employed by the Hamburg-American line, went out on strike Monday, and they were supplanted with non-union workers. The officials of the line, however, do not give credence to the theory that the fire might have been of incendiary origin, prompted by the controversy between them and their former employees. The loss is placed at $260,000.

The great ship was dark, with all on board asleep save the officers on watch, when smoke, ascending from the provisions room, was discovered simultaneously by a seaman on deck and a petty officer upon the bridge. Almost at the same moment the crackling of the flames was heard in the steerage quarters.

At least one man lost his life in the fire. He was Second Officer Herman Gobrecht. Gobrecht had gone with some sailors to the provisions room on the saloon deck, where the fire had started. The flames beat the men back—all but Gobrecht. When the Hoboken firemen came they found the body of the second officer.

Many of the members of the crew and several firemen from the Hoboken companies were severely burned while they were fighting the flames. Back draughts drove the fire fighters from the danger zone time and again. The draughts were due to the failure, the firemen say, of the officers of the ship to close the port holes.

The officers had just turned in for rest when the fire was reported on board. There was a panic among the 1131 steerage passengers, who had been held on board over night to be taken to Ellis Island.

There were 700 steerage passengers in the after part of the deck. The rest were forward. As soon as Commodore Ruesser, in command, discovered that the blaze in the provisions room meant real fighting, he gave orders to take the steerage passengers, with their baggage, off the ship. In the rush to land and line them on the pier a number of the passengers were injured.

Many of the steerage passengers had not been awakened by the alarm before the order was given to disembark. Clutching their baggage and loose clothing they rushed for the pier. There were many cries of terror when the fireboat streams and the engines were seen. Two immigrants escaped, but were finally captured in a River street hotel.

The company announced that the ship would sail on Saturday, as scheduled, and that the damage would be repaired, as far as possible, at sea.

REMARKABLE NERVE

Arm Shot Off, Walks Two Miles. Gun Fell and Exploded.

With his arm shattered by a load from a shotgun fired at short range, Harry Jennings, the 18 year old son of Mrs. Walter Jennings, near Burkittsville, walked two miles to his home and then was taken to the Frederick City Hospital. Once at the hospital the surgeons wanted to amputate the arm, but the young man steadfastly refused to have this done, and only after being at the institution for nearly two days, did he see that all hope of saving the arm was useless and consented to the removal of the arm, which was done.

Young Jennings in company with Harry Sowers and Clifford Smith, of near Burkittsville, were hunting in the mountains on Monday evening. After hunting for some time they sat down and young Jennings sat upon a large rock with his gun cocked. In some manner the gun slipped from his hands and down over the large rock. The jarring caused the trigger to drop and discharge the gun.

The load struck young Jennings in the arm, just below the elbow. The large bone in the arm was shattered, fragments of it being blown about the scene, and the flesh of the arm was horribly torn. The wound began bleeding badly, and his companions realized that if something were not done quickly young Jennings would bleed to death. A tourniquet was made by taking pieces of their clothing and the flow of blood was arrested.

CHILDREN WITH MATCHES

Start Blaze in McSherrystown Stable. Lad Overcome by Smoke.

A slight fire occurred at the stable of F. X. Weaver, McSherrystown, Tuesday afternoon. The flames, however, were extinguished before any headway had been made. The fire is supposed to have been started by several children playing with matches.

William Coulson, of Hanover, Chief of the Hanover fire department, who was engaged in the construction of a building nearby, saw the smoke and hastened to the building, where he found a boy of about eight years of age, who said his brother was penned in the burning stable. When Mr. Coulson opened the door, he found the little fellow on the inside was almost suffocated from the smoke.

Members of the fire company responded to an alarm, but the employees of the cigar box factory, nearby, put out the blaze before the company arrived. The only damage done was the burning of some hay and straw in the shed.

REJECTS ALL BIDS FOR ARMOR PLATE

Steel Companies' Proposals Were Identical.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Secretary Daniels rejected all bids for armor plate for battleship No. 39, building at the New York navy yard.

The Carnegie, Midvale and Bethlehem Steel companies submitted bids identical in every particular, as well as identical with similar bids submitted by the same companies for armor plate for the battleship Pennsylvania.

Secretary Daniels requested the representatives of the three companies to send him a detailed statement, showing the actual cost of manufacture or armor plate a ton. No action toward awarding the contracts is likely until these statements have been received and studied. Mr. Daniels said he might then ask for a conference with the heads of the companies and might visit their plants.

The similar bids of the three companies for the armor as disclosed at the opening of the bids were as follows: Class A-1, 6839 tons, per ton, $454; Class A-2 (turret) 900 tons, per ton, $518; Class B, 252 tons, per ton, $518; Class C (steel) 61 tons, per ton, $548; Class C (bronze), two tons, per ton, $1375.

Besides the Bethlehem, Midvale and Carnegie companies, which bid $548 a ton on Class C steel, the Carbon Steel company, of Pittsburgh, bid $448 on that class of armor, but submitted no other bids.

THREATEN BOLT ON INCOME TAX

Democratic Insurgents Get Promise For Higher Rates.

TO AFFECT BIG INCOMES

The Measure Will Be Revised and at Least 5 Per Cent Tax Placed on Incomes of Over $100,000.

Washington, Aug. 29.—An insurgent movement among Democratic senators that threatened to break party lines on the income tax was headed off by the leaders by an agreement to revise the tariff bill so as to levy a heavier tax on the incomes from large fortunes.

The insurgent leaders began with a demand for a party conference and claimed the support of twenty-seven Democratic senators of the fifty in the senate in support of an increase in the tax. They finally agreed to withdraw their demand for a special caucus, but the question will be taken up in a party conference.

It is understood that Democratic leaders have agreed to a revision of the income tax section, so that the extra tax on incomes of more than $100,000 will be five per cent, with an increase reaching ten per cent on incomes of half a million dollars. The bill, as it now stands, provides only a three per cent tax above $100,000. The present rates on incomes between $20,000 and $100,000, also will be increased.

The agreement to redraft the bill came after Senator Vandaman left the party ranks and voted for Senator La Follette's amendment to increase the rates, and Senators Reed, Thompson and Ashurst had threatened to take similar action.

Senator McCumber's amendment to start the tax at incomes of $1000 and increasing to 7 1/2 per cent on $100,000 and over, was defeated without a roll call, as was a similar one by Senator Poindexter.

Democratic leaders in the senate were able to defeat Senator La Follette's amendment to increase the tax on large incomes only by indicating that they themselves were prepared to make concessions to carry increases. Senators Reed, Ashurst and Thompson, all Democrats, voted with their party only after expressly stating they had been assured an increase would be made for taxes on incomes of more than $100,000. Senator La Follette's amendment would have taxed all incomes of more than $100,000 ten per cent. Twelve Republicans joined the Democrats in voting it down. Democratic leaders did not indicate what these concessions would be. Senator Bristow at once introduced another amendment, which, he explained, was calculated to fall heavier on incomes of more than $50,000.

The Bristow amendment was defeated strictly on party lines.

Ineffectual attempts were made repeatedly by Republicans to amend the income tax provisions. An amendment by Senator Norris to allow an exemption of $500 for each minor child instead of limiting the exemption to two children was defeated, 34 to 27. Another by Senator Lodge to substitute "dependent" for "minor" children also was promptly voted down.

JACK THE RIPPER THREATENS

Says He Will Attack Militants Unless They Cease Violence.

London, Aug. 29.—A mysterious person, signing himself "Jack the Ripper" threatens to start a lone warfare against the militant suffragettes unless they abstain from violence.

"Stalking pests of the British Isles," is the title given to the women by this modern avenger. In a note addressed to the Woman's Social and Political Union he says:

"Unless the women cease their violence I shall suppress militant suffragettes by a method that has been proved effective. They are the stalking pests of the British Isles." It was signed "1913," "Jack the Ripper."

BATTLESHIP AGROUND

The Louisiana Fast In Harbor at Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The battleship Louisiana grounded in Vera Cruz harbor, according to a message to the navy department from Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American fleet in Mexican waters.

Officials expressed the opinion that the accident must have been trivial from the fact that Admiral Fletcher gave no details, merely stating that the vessel had run aground and that he would appoint a court martial to determine the cause and the extent of the damage to the battleship.

U. S. WILL OPEN OIL LANDS FOR LEASE

To Dispose of 12,000 Acres in Oklahoma.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Oil lands to the extent of 12,000 acres in the Osage Indian reservation in Oklahoma were offered for lease by the interior department through Cato Sells, Indian commissioner.

The leases will be for tracts of from four to 160 acres, and bidders for the privilege of boring holes in search of riches will be compelled to make seal-off proposals.

Commissioner Sells incidentally remarks that the lands lie close to large wells now in operation "which now have a natural daily flow of from 500 to 1000 barrels."

"The determination to lease the land in small tracts," said Mr. Sells, "will permit an independent producer of small means to enter the bidding and to compete with the wealthy corporations, which they could not do if the land was to be leased in large areas."

The bids will be opened on Sept. 2 at the Osage Indian office at Pawhuska.

5 DIE AS STORE COLLAPSES

Eight Clerks Injured as Building Gives Way, Trapping Employees.

Petersboro, Ont., Aug. 29.—Five persons are known to have been killed and eight have been taken, seriously injured, from the ruins of the Turnbull company's dry goods store, which collapsed here.

Seventy clerks and other employees were in the building at the time, but it is not believed many customers had entered the store. Three persons had been taken from the ruins at noon, but were rushed away before it could be learned whether they were seriously injured.

Repairs to an adjoining building are thought to have weakened the wall of the dry goods store. The property loss will exceed $50,000.

SHOT DEAD AT RIFLE MATCH

Competitor Aiming His Gun For Practice Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 29.—Francisco Zegaira Ballon, a member of the Peruvian team taking part in the international rifle tournament here, was instantly killed in his tent by a team colleague, Julian E. Zegaira.

Zegaira came in from the range, and in his practice aiming snapped his rifle. It proved to be loaded. The bullet went through the tent pole, pierced Ballon's neck, tore through the tent and sped on across the range.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 29.—The government thermometer here reached 103 degrees. The nights are stifling. There was not a cloud in the sky, and the water problem is getting more serious every day for many of the Kansas towns.
